Likes Casey's Democratic Ticket And Believes It A Winner.

DANVILLE, Ky., Sept. 2. DEAR INTERIOR.—Allow me on behalf of the Casey democracy to thank you for the complimentary mention which you made of their ticket in the last issue of your valuable paper. The INTERIOR JOURNAL is the recognized organ of Casey democracy, which is amply reciprocated in a pecuniary way by the good people of your sister county.

The ticket as nominated in full is as follows: County judge, M. L. Sharp; county clerk, H. D. Gifford; county attorney, Charles F. Montgomery; sheriff, J. W. Garrison; superintendent of public schools, J. S. Lawhorn; jailer, Brack Godbey; assessor, G. A. Tucker; surveyor, W. S. Rogers. It would have been next to the impossible to have named a stronger ticket. All are substantial citizens, farmers and business men, having the upbuilding and betterment of their county and people at heart, and will command the support of every voter and citizen of the county, irrespective of party affiliation, who believes that a change of party and of men in the administration of county affairs to be for the best. The ticket is composed of good, strong men, christian men, and every one of them competent and well fitted for the office he seeks. We confidently believe the ticket a winning one. Stranger things have happened. Rockribbed Pennsylvania had her Pattison; Iowa her Boies; yes, even Rockcastle had her Williams, then why not "Old Casey" her Sharp, Gifford, et al?

Editor Thomas, in his last issue of the Casey County News, pays the following tribute to the men who enlisted in the almost death struggle for the redemption of the county from misrule and bossism:

"The ticket is composed of some of the best men that could be found in the county, against whom but little can be truthfully said, and if they defeat the republican nominees they will make the county good and efficient officers."

Good. It will be no disgrace to Brer Thomas to meet defeat with the wily young Lawhorn as his antagonist.

Success to the I. J.

KLAIRENTZ KOHLMOND.

Critically Ill.

Many people are critically ill, as a result of disturbance of their digestive functions, and don't know it. If you are suffering from dizziness, heartburn, wind, loss of appetite, irritability, headache, nausea, colic, constipation, waste no time, but take Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin. It may be the means of warding off a dangerous sickness. At any rate, it will surely make your distressing, disquieting symptoms disappear. It is safe, certain and pleasant. Try it. Sold by G. L. Penny, Stanford, and C. W. Adams, Hustonville, at 50c and $1. Money back if it fails.

MT. VERNON.—At a meeting held in Mt. Vernon it was decided that a partial independent ticket should be put in the field to oppose the republican nominees. The following is the independent ticket: Judge J. B. Lair; County Attorney, J. W. Brown; Clerk, Parkie Scott, and Jailer, G. W. Decker. There will be no candidates in the sheriff, assessor and superintendent races. Chas. C. Davis will open a new drug store in the D. C. Poynter old stand. S. H. Martin will leave shortly for Hot Springs, N. C., to spend several weeks for his health.—Signal.

Escaped Death.

It is not an uncommon experience for us to get a letter describing how the writer escaped death by taking Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin for some violent and dangerous stomach or bowel inflammation. The gentle, soothing, curative, purificative action of this pleasant syrup is without any equal in the science of medicine. Sold by G. L. Penny, Stanford, and C. W. Adams, Hustonville, at 50c and $1. Money back if it fails.

Public Printer Palmer has requested the resignation of Oscar J. Ricketts, foreman of printing, and L. C. Hay, foreman of the job division of the Government Printing Office. The men have refused to comply on the ground that they have been furnished with no particulars of the charges and have been allowed no opportunity for reply.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This is a medicine of great worth and merit. Try it when you have a cough or cold and you are certain to be pleased with the quick relief it affords. It is pleasant to take and can always be depended upon. For sale by all druggists.

Diphtheria, that curse of children and dread of parents, seems to have had the terror taken out of it. At Altoona, Pa., out of 100 cases treated with antitoxin 95 recovered.

Seven Successful Sons of Dallas.

CRAB ORCHARD, Sept. 1st.—The demise of George W. Evans has taken from the scenes of earth the last of seven remarkable men, who were born and raised almost in sight of each other on Buck Creek, near Dallas, Pulaski county, Ky. For energy, courage and perseverance they scarcely ever had an equal. The seven accumulated a fortune aggregating almost $1,000,000. One of them, W. F. Evans, left a fortune of $500,000; Joseph McAlister, a fortune of $300,000. Joseph McAlister, J. H. McAlister and James McAlister were born in a large log and framed house on a fine farm immediately on Buck creek. Their father was rich, owning 30 Negroes; but the boys when grown, cared nothing for this. They struck out for themselves and were blessed in their houses and their goods, their lands and their stores. All did hard work, some of them engaging in agriculture, some cutting corn, wood and breaking rock on the pike, climbing higher as they prospered by industry and temperance, neither drinking liquor. Joseph McAlister married the most worthy lady, Martha Bane Owsley, daughter of Jack Owsley, of Lincoln county. She still survives her departed husband. J. H. McAlister married Margaret Whitley, daughter of William Whitley, of Tecumseh fame. James McAlister married Catherine Hays, grand daughter of Thomas Stigall, of Stigall's Ferry fame. Her mother was also mine. W. F. Evans married the daughter of the late Robert W. Graham, who married a Miss Owsley, a daughter of Jack Owsley. His son-in-law, who is also his nephew, Morris J. Farris, owns 2,400 acres of the finest land in Boyle county. The late and much lamented G. W. Evans also married Miss Katherine Owsley, a most estimable christian lady, a daughter of Jack Owsley. Joseph Mc. James and G. W. James, deceased, are the remaining two of the famous seven, who have shown to the rising young men what can be done by energy and industry in this great free country. "Where no pent up utes contracts our powers; but the boundless universe is ours." Joseph Mc. James married a Miss Saunders, a most worthy lady of a most worthy family of Pulaski county. G. W. James married Miss Lizzie P. Bobbitt, who was the most beautiful woman at that time in Lincoln county, and a christian lady whose contributions to the poor were most liberal.

Joseph Mc. James and G. W. James were born and raised in a stone house and were first cousins to the McAlisters and were close neighbors to them. The Evans' family owned the most substantial birch dwelling in all North America. The plastering on the wall after three quarters of a century shone and reflected like a mirror. All these men were descended direct from Virginians and the F. F. V's. of Virginia did not surpass them. Their fathers owned slaves, but knew that slaves were a dead incubance in Kentucky, especially in Pulaski, where the white boys killed weeds and the Negroes killed time.

These seven men did not make and save their property by parsimony. They were noble, generous and charitable to a fault. I asked Mr. G. W. Evans one day when would there ever be another immigration from Dallas to Lincoln of eight men who would acquire the rich land and confiscate two of the best offices in the county. He answered: "Never Fount." And he was right. They are a different people there now.

All is desolate along that shore. "Tis Dallas, but living Dallas no more. People to be anything great must come From Old Virginia, the mother of States and statesmen."

All those men, with the exception of one or two were taught by my father, who was a Virginian. My dear friend, G. W. Evans, was talking only last year to me about going to school to my father and said that he was very fond of him. Mr. Evans also went to college in Virginia and he told me that 40 years after he went back to the old place and going to the spring whose cold, bright waters he had drunk when a very young man, "and there Fount, were the same little fish I left some 40 years ago, and some of the wild geese a neighbor had caught and raised 40 years before were still alive." And the little old professor was still alive and took him by the hand and said, "Evans of Kentucky." I about 10 years ago, asked Mr. Evans if he could smell the Pulaski scent on me enough to give me a bushel of good seed corn? "Yes, Fount, I can." And he shelled it himself and sent it to me. There are seven little orphans in Crab Orchard to whom he never failed to give a present of $1 each as certain as the anniversary of Christ rolled around upon the axis of time.

Those seven men were all great and good, are now gone to their reward. They have shown us what can be done. Let us emulate their grand lives and strive to meet them in the great beyond after each of us shall have taken our place in the silent hall of Death. "The lives of all great men do remind us."

That we may make our lives sublime, And departing leave behind us.

Foot prints in the sands of time. Which some other, a way worn brother, Seeing will take courage again." FONTAINE F. BOBBITT.

When he was 1,500 feet in the air by some accident the dynamite exploded and the balloon and man were literally torn to fragments.

It stops irregularities and builds up the whole system. Penny's Drug Store.

W. A. CARSON.

The democratic nominee for assessor, is one of the best known men in this county, where he has lived all of his life. For many years he was a merchant of Crab Orchard and was postmaster under Cleveland during his last term. He has always taken a hand in politics and his work for the democratic party has been most effectual. Mr. Carson's majority in the last primary shows what a runner he is, defeating one of Lincoln county's best and most popular men over 600 votes. His majority over the republican who is pitted against him may not be that large but it will be sufficient to make him assessor for four years hence. He has been a successful merchant and his business relations have been such as to give him an accurate conception of the value of property, without which it would be impossible to discharge the duties of the office which he seeks, as the successful administration of government depends largely upon the work of the assessor in listing property so that the revenue derived therefrom will be sufficient to meet public expenditures. In 1890 he married Miss Nellie Yantis, a most excellent lady, they having been blessed with four children. He was educated at Crab Orchard Seminary and being in favor of all institutions that elevate and enlighten mankind, he is in fellowship with the Masons, I. O. O. F., K. P., K. O. T. M. and Red Men, in all of which he is prominent and has held high offices. In religious faith he is a member of the Christian church, though his views are such as to preclude the opinions of the offensive sectarian.

Policemen William Britton and Luther Herron were each held to the grand jury by Judge Roach, at Harrodsburg, in $1,000 bail for the killing of Sam C. Black and Walter Stotts.

How to Live.

Life, after all, is never very happy if a person is constantly sick. "How to live" is largely a question of "how to be well." The answer to both is, keep your main health communications—stomach, liver and bowels—in good order with Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin. It is a reliable, safe and pleasant cure for headache, constipation, colic and all symptoms of the digestive trouble. Sold by G. L. Penny, Stanford, and C. W. Adams, Hustonville, at 50c and $1. Money back if it fails.

The jury at Russellville in the trial of Polk Fletcher, accused of criminal assault, failed to reach an agreement and was discharged. Eleven were for the death penalty, while one, N. E. Christian, of Todd county, was for 20 years in the penitentiary. Great indignation was shown in his action. After he left Russellville a warrant was sworn out for his arrest, charging him with accepting a bribe to save Fletcher's life.

The Original.

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. These worthless imitations have similar sounding names. Beware of them. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar is in a yellow package. Ask for it and refuse any substitute. It is the best remedy for coughs and colds. Penny's Drug Store.

All America

$3.50 AND $4 SHOES

Are shaped like a foot. All the seams are deeply buried in the leather; the thick, soft lining prevents uneven surface; the insole which is next to the foot, is soft and smooth, the stitches holding the bottom of the shoe together, can not become uneven ridges, because between them and the soft insole is a hard leather sole. The heels must always fit because the counter is curved at both top and bottom; the eyelets are covered on the inside with a soft leather strip. No matter how tight the shoes are laced, they can not pinch the feet. All America Shoes are good looking. They cost $3.50 and $4.00 because they could not be made better at a higher price.
